PROVENANCE
Private collection

A standing figure bends slightly over a washbasin. Mason uses this everyday gesture as the basis for a life study, keeping the setting quiet around the model. The model holds a glass pitcher above a patterned blue basin. Reflections on the vessel contrast with the blue-green wall and the red and gold textiles beside her. Mason studied with Frank Vincent DuMond at the Art Students League of New York and began teaching there in 1951. Painted four years later…
